Unable to sleep, Leah was enjoying a late-night stroll – making certain to keep to the well-worn trails zig-zagging their way through the woods at the back of her property using moonlight and a lantern to see her way. Breaking the tree line, she entered a clearing with a small, natural pond. Sitting the lantern on a boulder several feet from water’s edge, she stripped out of her clothes and dove in headfirst.

Coming up for air – her long black hair cascading over her shoulders, she rolled onto her back and floated around the pond for several relaxing minutes, staring up at the starlit skies. A cool breeze blew through the leaves, a twig snapped under the pressure of a footfall. Leah sank into the waters with only her head remaining above. “W-Who’s there?”

No answer.

Something brushed against Leah’s leg causing her to nearly rocket out of the pond in fright. Swimming towards shore, it glanced off of her abdomen. Long. Slender. It wrapped around her waist like a snake – dragging her back with surprising force. Fear setting in, she scrambled for freedom, but her attacker held firm. “Oh god! P-Please let me go!” she pleaded as another something slithered up her side and squeezed her right breast. And two more wound their way around her legs – spreading them open as a fifth flicked across her clit before pressing more than six inches into her pussy.

“Aahhgghhh!” she yelped. “Please donmph...” her words were cut short as a tendril shot out of the pond and filled her mouth. Lifted out of the water, entwined in tentacles right out of the most bizarre of hentai, Leah was taken from all sides. Another groped her left breast – a mouth-like orifice latching onto her nipples as another tentacle pushed up her ass nearly a foot while the one pounding ruthlessly in and out of her pussy pushed passed her cervix and right into her womb.

It all happened so fast Leah had no chance to respond. Gently placed on the grass, she was positioned on all fours as the powerful appendages worked her over. In the dim light of the moon, stars and lantern she could see a vaguely humanoid shape standing to her right. And then another. A third. Four. Seven – each of them with more than a dozen long tentacles protruding from their backs and dripping some sort of fluid whose aroma was driving her absolutely out of her mind.

One of the thrusting appendages pulsated inside of Leah’s pussy – growing thicker and thicker as it continued working its way into her womb. Stretched open more than she imagined possible, she felt the first blast of what she believed to be semen. But then there was something else. Something large and very warm that was deposited inside as the tentacle withdrew – sealing her womb shut with a sticky fluid. The rest of the tentacles withdrew from her body and with a sigh she collapsed to the ground.

Rolling onto her back, Leah looked up into the handsome face of what she could only assume was an alien. Though mostly human, she noticed several differences right away. First there were the dozen or so tentacles attached to his back and writhing of their own accord. The second thing she noticed were the horns protruding from his forehead that swept back over his head. And the third was his naked form. And as her eyes drifted down his muscular physique, they grew wide.

“W-What are you? Please let me go. I swear I’ll never tell anyone about this.”

“We are Dijanni,” the man answered. “And now that you are with child you are free to go.”

“With child? OH HELL NO! I’m not...there’s no way...what have you done to me?” Leah gasped, looking down to see her belly already swollen as if several months pregnant. What did you put in me?”

“You carry the egg and will give birth to the first of a new race. You are First Mother.”

“No! No, no, no, no, absolutely not! Get this fucking thing out of me right now!”

Scrambling to her feet, she took off like a bat out of hell – making it as far as the trees before running out of light. Stumbling around in the dark, a branch slapped across her face. “Ahgh, dammit!”

“You need light to see the way. Please, we are not here to hurt you. Come back and we’ll take care of you.”

“Take care of me? TAKE CARE OF ME!? You impregnated me with your...your...what are you?”

“I told you, we are Dijanni.”

“Are...a-are you aliens?”

“We come from the planet Dijannar Prime in what you refer to as the Andromeda Galaxy.”

“Um, okay. And why are you on earth?”

“We’ve come to breed with the human race.”

“You what now?”

“We’ve scoured the universe for aliens capable of bearing our young and impregnating our women. Humans are the ninth we have located in seven-thousand generations. Please, we only want to experience sex with your species. We mean you no harm.”

“How is this even possible? How do you know breeding with us won’t kill us? What did you put in me?”

“You carry the egg of Jo’Brill. In your body it be fertilized and grow into a new human/Dijanni hybrid. We’ve done extensive research for more than one of your centuries and all data points to the same conclusion. Our species are genetically compatible. There is no risk to either.”

“Um, you don’t have a dick,” Leah said pointing at the alien’s groin. How can you mate with us if you don’t have dicks? How do the human men mate with your women?”

One of the tentacles darted out from behind the Dijanni’s back, stopping about a foot in front of Leah’s startled face. “This is our sex organ. As for the women...Tal’Renna, come forward.”

Leah stared as a stunningly beautiful woman stepped out of the darkness and into the light – the horns on her nearly human head shorter and slimmer than those of the males. Her large breasts defied gravity, but it was the pair of large wings – navy blue at the tops and fading to white at the bottoms that caught Leah’s attention. “Are you an angel?”

“No,” Tal’Renna smiled “But we are the basis of the stories. And as you can see, we are nearly identical in every way.”

“Except for the big freaking wings! Can you fly? Do you have...can you...um, how do you have sex?”

“Yes, Dijanni females are capable of flight. And we mate just as you do. Please, come closer and kneel in front of me.”

“For what?”

“So that you can see for yourself.”

Fascinated and unable to bring herself to run screaming in terror as her brain demanded, Leah walked over to Tal'Renna, dropped to her knees and stared right at a most human-looking vagina. The Dijanni woman slowly turned and went down on all fours – her wings opening to not only show her moist pussy, but a tightly puckered asshole as well. “You...you look human other than the wings,” Leah stammered.

“Please have sex with me,” Tal'Renna said looking back over her right shoulder.

“I, um, I'm not...”

“Please. It would be the greatest honor to have sex with the first mother. I wish for you to be my first.”

“First? Wait! Are you telling me you're a virgin?”

“That is correct. Please show me what it's like to have sex with another woman before I am used for breeding by your men.”

“Used? Are you here against your will? Are they forcing you to be bred?”

“Of course not! We are all here willingly. Please, lick my pussy and ass. Fuck your fingers in me and make me Ujahn.”

“Ujahn?”

“Woman,” the alien identified as Jo'Brill answered. And as you make love to her, we'll make love to you.”

“But I'm already with child.”

“One, yes,” Jo'Brill grinned as he moved in behind Leah, the tentacle that was his manhood inching ever closer to her already impregnated pussy. “Based on prior testing, the human womb is capable of holding as many as seven eggs.”

“SEVEN! I already look six months pregnant! How in the hell can you possibly think you can put another six of them in me?”

“The egg is small. The reason you appear so bloated is due to the filcum. It protects the eggs, but will be absorbed into your body on several days. In the meantime, you will find your sexual appetite increased.”

“So, wait, let me get this straight. You want to put as many as seven alien babies in my womb?”

“That is correct.”

“And then what? I have seven babies? How long will I be pregnant? Is giving birth going to hurt?”

“You will give birth to as many Humanni as eggs you are fertilizing and it will hurt no more than if giving birth to a normal human baby.”

“But they won't be normal! They'll have tentacles and wings! How in the hell am I going to explain that to the doctors?”

“You will give birth aboard our ship and the babies will be cared for by our medical personnel.”

“Like hell! If I'm having kids I'm not just going to abandon them to some perverted aliens! Wait! I'll be going to your ship? How many of you are aboard? How many are already taking advantage of poor, defenseless humans?”

“We have thirty-nine ships positioned two-hundred-sixty astronomical units from your sun with a total complement of fifty-four thousand breeders evenly split between genders.”

“FIFTY FOUR THOUSAND!? You're not playing around are you? So, uhn,” Leah grunted as the tentacle cocks pushed into her pussy and ass. “No, no, go uhn...uhn...g-go on and b-breed me.”

“Don’t mind if I do. As your first mate you will only carry my eggs.”

“What about the rest of them?”

“We will breed with other earth women in due time,” the apparent leader answered. “And since we have so many dicks, well...we’re capable of breeding as many as fourteen women at the same time and can produce as many eggs in a day.”

“Good lord! At that rate you’ll breed the entire female population in a few months! H-How long will we carry the eggs?”

“The eggs will go through their transformation and become our combined young in five cycles. Um, eleven of your months.”

“So, let me get this straight...” Leah’s words were cut short as an impatient Tal’Renna pushed her pussy back against her lips. Unsure if it was the filcum increasing her sex drive, the large alien cock plowing another egg into her womb, or the intoxicating aromas of Tal’Renna’s pussy, but Leah could not help but extend her tongue for a better taste. Lapping up the juices as quickly as they flowed, she found herself getting into it far more than she ever thought possible. Then again, she never believed in aliens either.
